

International Services may authorize a reduced course load (or, if necessary, no course load) due to a student's temporary illness or medical condition for a